3 PAYE (Pay As You Earn) for foreign workers

Since you are new in Norway and you work onshore here, you will automatically join the voluntary PAYE scheme when you pay tax. Under this scheme, you are taxed at a fixed percentage* that your employer deducts from your salary. If you want to pay tax according to the PAYE scheme, you do not tick the box below.

You can opt out of the scheme and pay tax according to general Norwegian tax rules if this is more profitable for you. Make your choice by ticking the box below or by applying for a new tax deduction card later on in the year. If you opt out of the PAYE scheme, you cannot re-join the scheme this year. If you do not meet the conditions to join the scheme, please tick below to be taxed under general tax rules.

I opt out of the PAYE scheme, and I choose to pay tax according to the general tax rules

*Ask us for information about the applicable rate, or go to skatteetaten.no/paye

How to complete the application for a tax deduction card/advance tax for foreign citizens

1. Personal details and contact information

Enter your full name in the order shown on the form. State your Norwegian national identity number/D number or date of birth, your gender, citizenship and country of birth (country of birth is optional). Enter an e-mail address and a telephone number (including the country/dialling code) where we can contact you.

2. Address in home country or address after your stay in Norway

Enter the address in your home country or another address you're planning to travel to after you leave Norway. If your address changes, it's important that you notify the Norwegian Tax Administration of your new address. Then we can send you post. If you do not know where you're going, enter your postal address in your home country.

3. PAYE (Pay As You Earn)

- PAYE (Pay As You Earn): You are taxed at a fixed rate, and the tax has already been deducted before you receive your salary. Next year, you will receive a receipt that shows your income and the amount of tax you paid. You will not receive a tax return or tax assessment notice.
- Ordinary tax rules: The tax rate is adjusted according to your income and deductions. Next year, you will receive a tax return that shows your income. You must check that it is correct, and you must make changes if something is missing or incorrect. Next year, you will receive a tax assessment notice showing whether you have paid too much or too little tax in Norway.

4. About your current stay

Tick the box for your workplace / where you are staying. You can tick several options: Then tick the box for the employment type that describes your situation best. State the date of your arrival and first working day. If you know your last working day and your departure date, please state this too. If you receive introductory benefit, you must state the first and, if possible, the final day that you receive this in the fields for first and last day of employment. If you are not sure about the final day for receiving introductory benefit, you can leave the field open.

5. Employer you're employed by/receive salary from

Enter the name and organisation number of the employer you're working for or have received a job offer from.

6. Salary and remunerations from employer

State how much taxable income you expect to receive from your employer this year in NOK. If you receive board fees, tick the box for this. You must also state how much of your salary concerns board fees.

7. Own business

If you run your own business, you must state the organisation number and expected business income this year. Your business income must include profits from sole proprietorships and businesses assessed as a partnership.

8. Other income

If you own real property in Norway, you must state your expected taxable income from real property.

If at the end of the year you've stayed in Norway for 183 days or less in the last 12 months, and if you at the year end have not stayed in Norway for more than 270 days in the last 36 months, you do not have to state other capital income than income from real property or moveable property in Norway. If at the end of the year you've stayed in Norway for more than 183 days in the last 12 months, or if at the end of the year you've stayed in Norway for more than 270 days in the last 36 months, you must state all (global) capital income.

9. Identity

If you've been issued with a residence permit in Norway, you'll find your DUF number on your residence permit or registration certificate.

Identity document

The fields are required if you do not have a Norwegian national identity number or D number already. Type of identity document is the type of ID document that is presented, e.g. a passport or national identity card. Identity document number is the number of the document, e.g. passport number or driving licence number. Name of issuer is the name of the agency that issued the document, e.g. Oslo Police District, the Norwegian Public Roads Administration or the Swedish Tax Agency. The country of issue is the country in which the document was issued. Valid from is the date from which the document is valid. Valid to is the date until which the document is valid.

10. og 11. Your present address and postal address in Norway

We need you to provide at least one address where we can contact you. If you plan to commute to Norway on a daily or weekly basis, you do not have to state a present address in Norway, in addition to in your home country. If so, state the postal address where we can reach you while you're staying in Norway in item 11. If you've stated your present address in Norway, you only have to state your postal address in item 11 if it differs from your present address in item 10. If you receive your post at another person's postal address, you must enter this person's name in the c/o field. If your address changes, it's important that you inform the Tax Administration of your new address. Do this at www.skatteetaten.no/contact (log in using your electronic ID) or submit the form "Notification of a new/changed postal address".

12. Date and signature

Sign the form to confirm that the information you've given is correct
